

Longitude du Méridien de l'Île de Fer.

CARTE GÉNÉRALE
DE L'EUROPE.

Par M. Bonne, Ingén^r. Hydrograp^e.

de la Marine.

Nov. 1780.

Avec Priv. du Roi.

This is a detailed historical map of Europe and North Africa, likely from the 18th century. The map features a grid of latitude and longitude lines. The Océan Atlantique is to the west, the Mer Méditerranée to the south, and the Mer Noire to the east. Major cities are labeled in French, such as London, Paris, Rome, and Moscow. The British Isles are shown with their respective island groups. France is depicted with its coastal cities like Marseille, Toulon, and Nice. Spain and Portugal are shown along the Iberian Peninsula. Italy is detailed with cities like Rome, Naples, and Sicily. The map also includes parts of Russia and the Ottoman Empire. A legend in the bottom right corner provides information on the scale and types of roads.

Longitude du Méridien de Paris.

André Gide